

2015 AOH St. Pat's Day Run

Saturday, 14 March – Those familiar with 1950's sci-fi movies may recall "The Blob," a flick that portrayed a small gelatinous creature that popped up in a small town. That blob kept eating and growing until it was on the verge of enveloping the town. Anaconda's AOH Run has followed a similar growth pattern. From its modest beginnings in the early 1980s it has grown steadily to become a monstrosity that covers Anaconda one day each year. Warm, but windy, conditions drew in another record crowd this year, with 732 runners and walkers crossing the finish line, a record number that broke the, four year old, high participation mark of 660. At its core, the events' ever-growing numbers are linked to strong family ties and the area's festive Irish-laced spirit. Of this year's finishers, 38% hailed from Anaconda, plus another 31% from Butte, and many others who attended were visiting their old home.

The men's three mile race matched the first two placers from last year's six mile, and again this year they finished first and second but with a reversal of fortunes. This time, Butte's Matt Choquette stayed in position to use his trademark kick to secure victory over Helena's Jesse Zentz, who had bested him in 2014. When asked about the race, via email, Zentz replied "Choquette ripped at the finish and beat me by a couple seconds. Nasty little headwind when running south. Still a blast." Choquette finished three seconds clear of Zentz in 14:58.

Driscoll won the 70+ age division for female three-milers in 40:07 -- the number ten time on the all-time best list for that division.

Ashley Choquette completed a husband-wife sweep on the three mile race when she crossed the finish as the first woman in 20:14.

Butte Central High School's Conor McGee looked to add this year's six mile title to the three mile victory that he scored last year, but this time he encountered too much resistance from Helena's Bryan Johnson, a brick house of a man who came to running only after finishing a career in arm wrestling. AHS XC coach Tom Wood read mile splits to the first several racers in the six mile, and then he followed the race to the finish. He recalled it this way. "The race began with an amazing tailwind that eventually became a crosswind. Conor McGee and Bryan Johnson were neck and neck for much of the way, before Bryan pulled ahead." Johnson won in 35:10, one minute and forty seconds slower that he ran in the same race last year when he place third behind Zentz and Choquette. McGee's second place time was 35:42.

Lisa Minnehan (29), a hometown girl, won the women's 6-mile by over four minutes with a time of 37:45.
